racehorses. From Seabiscuit to American Pharoah, Santa Anita Park has launched countless racehorses across the finish line and into infamy. Thoroughbred racehorses are among the world's top athletes and have plenty to offer equestrians—even when they retire from racing. Santa Anita Park frequently works with CARMA to transition horses from the racetrack to fulfilling second careers or adoption for retirement. (carma4horses.org)

THE CALIFORNIA ART CLUB, established in 1909 by early California Impressionists or plein air painters, is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most active leading professional art organizations in the world. The mission of the Club, headquartered in Pasadena, California, is to promote traditional fine art in the fields of painting, drawing and sculpture; to produce and promote art exhibits that foster understanding and interpretation of traditional art heritage and California history; and to provide educational opportunities in fine arts.
